 by
Cantor Bruce Shapiro

Thanksgiving and Hanukah are right around the corner! This Hanukah I am going to ask for something special from you.

Recently, I was watching an interview of the President on TV. The journalist was discussing Global Warming with him. Hot Topic (no pun intended). You know that it is. On the one hand, there is scientific proof that our "carbon footprint" has contributed greatly to the warming of the earth. It is happening at an alarming rate. Fossil fuels (coal and oil) are the greatest contributors to carbon emissions.

The President then gave an alternate view on this. He asked, "Is it possible that Global Warming is a natural phenomena and that the warming of the earth and the melting of the polar icecaps were going to happen anyway?"

Whatever your view on this topic, it is best to gather the facts, discuss, and take action. In our household we have decided to no longer use straws at home or when offered to us at a restaurant. We have been recycling in our home for 30 + years, separating the recyclables from those that are not. We turn off lights, fans, A/C when not in use, and water in between brushing. These are small things, but what if everyone did them? What impact would that have on helping to reduce the "carbon footprint" that may contribute to slowing down the progress of Global Warming?

What haven't I done in the past to help the environment that perhaps I can do now? Think about adding some or all of the following to your list: See CANTOR on page 2

Cantor's thoughts on the Pittsburgh tragedy

Dear Friends, Family and Congregants:

I am sad and heartbroken. I don't know any of the people or families whose lives were changed dramatically Saturday, October 27, when an anti-Semite opened fire with a semi-automatic rifle and at least three handguns. He yelled, "All Jews must die!" He murdered eleven worshippers and injured many others

Unplug your devices, drive less, plant a garden, line dry your clothes, eat local food, reduce or eliminate meat and or dairy consumption, reduce or eliminate your consumption of bottled water, properly insulate your home, maintain your HVAC system, reduce your trash output, go paperless, pass on plastic, use CFL or LED lights, purchase efficient appliances, or carry a reusable shopping bag so you never need plastic ones at the store.

Ultimately our goal is to leave this world in a better status than we found it.

In Va'yetzei, Jacob asks for everything he needs including a life "free" of problems. Wouldn't that be nice? There is certainly an ebb and flow to life. We have our "ups" and we have our "downs". Jacob's leaving home to go on a journey was a significant event. As the Sages state, "A righteous person's departure from a place leaves a void." So it is when you travel, change jobs, children grow up, leave and sometimes come back, and so many other events in our cycle of life, that voids are constantly part of our life. Wouldn't life be boring if we had "no problems" to solve?

So it is with our environment. We must learn how to live our lives in a way that can help to reduce the "carbon footprint" we have now. So during this month of Thanksgiving leading into Hanukah on December 2, my wish is that you take a look at your "carbon footprint", explore the Internet or other research methods for additional ways to start reducing/reusing or if you are already doing it, how about adding one more thing that you have not done before?

Adon Olam, Master of the Universe, You provided this world and it is our job as your stewards to maintain it. Provide us the wisdom and the fortitude to make sacrifices large and small to not only improve the world but also give us the "energy" to make these changes helpful and perpetual.

Save the date!!! Saturday, December 8 is the Annual Chanukah Party is being planned as you read this newsletter. Location is yet to be determined. It will include Latke cook-off for Best Latkes, Lighting of the Menorah, great food and desserts. Bring appetizers, an entrée, dessert or other.

including three police officers. This is the worst attack on the Jewish community on American soil.

What do we do, now?

Remain calm. We should acknowledge that despite this horror we are relatively safe in the United States. The outpouring of support and sadness is a reminder that we as a Jewish community are a respected and an integral part of this great nation. All Jews no matter where we live, no matter what level of Judaism, no matter how one believes, we know that the Talmud teaches us that the lives of Jews are intertwined.

We must strengthen our work as a community to counter the hatred and violence that continue to plague Jews wherever they live and that take innocent lives. I continue to believe that love, faith, strength, and standing up for the highest values of our Jewish tradition will prevail. Each of us can contribute our unique strengths to make this world a world worthy of praise and esteem. Ti'kiah...Wake up! We are a people of holiness who must come together and support ourselves and others. We must all do the necessary work to heal, uplift and do the daily work of repair that the Torah calls upon us to do.

We must hold on to our values. Our Torah reading yesterday morning, parashat Va'Yera, opens with the image of Abraham rushing out from the opening of his tent to greet strangers and invites them in to wash their feet and to feed them. For our sages, such care defined the values of Abraham and Sarah and their spiritual descendants. In the face of anti-Semitism and hatred, we must find the courage to love. We thank the first responders in Pittsburgh who risked their lives, captured the assailant, and cared for the victims.

We pray for a healing of body and soul to all who have been wounded and impacted by this devastating attack. To show your financial support to the Tree of Life Synagogue you may contribute to the GoFundMe page, referring to the Tree of Life Synagogue.

We pray and expect that through joining together with all people of good hearts that we will create a reality where our schools, synagogues, churches and mosques will be places where each of us can gather without fear and that our interdependence as human beings will be as clear as day. Be proud of your Jewish identity!

How can you help in addition to the GoFundMe page?

Let's each add one more act to our daily routine whether it saying a blessing (an act of gratitude), wrapping tefillin, lighting Shabbat candles, or helping those in need. Let's dedicate these additional mitzvot to the memory of those ruthlessly murdered.

Come to synagogue this Friday night. Let's attend synagogue together and show the world that our synagogues are filled with vibrancy, love and life. On Friday night, we will sing a special MiShebeirach for the healing of those in need of healing around the world. Let's fill every synagogue seat to capacity!

Hamakom Yenachem Etchem
B'toch Sha'ar Aveli Tzion
V'Yerushalayim. May all mourners be comforted. May our tears and broken hearts find healing. May justice, love, and peace be the clear call for each of us in the days to come, and let us all say, Amen!

President Message

This article was drawn to my attention by my son who is in this target age called the Millennials. And yes, they grew up playing video games. And yes these are the same “kids” flying drones and very much in to social media.

And I was a bit late finding this till now, but there is meaning.

The popular video game Fortnite Battle Royale by Epic Games may not seem to have anything to do with Rosh Hashanah, but it does.

The game is simple: One hundred players parachute onto an island and furiously race to gather materials, weapons and gadgets inside a steadily shrinking safe zone. The last player standing wins a Victory Royale.

“Then you do it all over again “, to quote a certain Cantor.

And again.

The game encourages wholesome play, rewards kindness to other players and dancing with opponents on the battlefield is considered completely normal.

The popularity of the game is certain. Less certain is the explanation for its massive popularity.

The author of this article was playing a recent game of Fortnite with his son, who is a much better Fortnite player than the author. He realized the secret of Fortnite’s success is also the secret of Rosh Hashanah.

“Rosh Hashanah is a personal reset button. Together we acknowledge the end of a year and we refresh our commitment to never stop engaging in the battle. If we do Rosh Hashanah right, our new year begins with a blank scoreboard and renewed optimism for our success.”

Rosh Hashanah is the great equalizer. All year, battles rage within us. Good vs. Evil. Right vs. Wrong. Generosity vs. Selfishness. We rack up some wins and we take our share of losses. Overall, we may have grown into better people or we may have succumbed to our lesser selves. It can be tempting to stop battling and fall into a permanent state of inertia, allowing us to redefine ourselves by our greatest triumphs or our worst failures.

EDUCATION Report

Our annual Chanukah Bazaar is approaching quickly. The big day is November 18. You will notice many new vendors participating in the event this year. Our students will be contacting members of the congregation. They will be asking you to purchase tickets to the brunch. Please keep in mind that all proceeds from this event help run the religious school. We will have a great brunch prepared by caterer Shirli. Fantastic shopping opportunities will be available to all in attendance. We will have a raffle with donated items from our vendors. It will be a fun day to spend with your Temple family here at C.B.S. So please support our religious school on November 18. See you there.

Marci Rouman
Education Director

Our local JNF representative is Donna Raider. She joined us at our 50th Anniversary Celebration. Donna has multiple programs that will be introduced to our synagogue in the near future. Her words of encouragement and amazement were evident as “CBS is known as ‘the little shul who could’, has now become ‘the little shul who DID’.”

Referencing the support our synagogue has for Israel, through JNF Trees, many synagogues 10 times our size purchase one grove over a 10 year timeframe, yet we have purchased a grove of 1,000 trees every year for five (5) consecutive years. It is our understanding, that the most recent grove will be planted in the Gaza area.

If you are interested in purchasing a tree or trees for a Mitzvah, In Honor of, or In Memory of a loved one... please outreach to Bob Stone at 562.818.9137 or Bruce Rouman at 951.847.4632

Clifford Lester is a professor of photography at Cypress College and a student of the Jewish experience. 13th Annual Legacy Luncheon March 10, 2019

Annually our little synagogue hosts a very large event that highlights the good deeds of our members as well as community members. This March 10th will mark the 13th consecutive year where CBS and the community come together to acknowledge and honor some great individuals. For the next few months, we will feature our three honorees and their "bio's" to give our members a better perspective of who is receiving each award and why.

Angela (Anji) Rosser is our 2019 Shomer Tzedek honoree. This award translates into the Guardian of Righteousness Award. In reviewing Angela's "bio," it is easy to see why she is so worthy of this honor and what amazing things she has done for the arts in the city of Corona. Additionally, for those members who have been with CBS during the years of planning for the California building, CBS had a very close relationship with Rufus Rosser, Angela's husband, a leader in the Corona United Methodist Church. Angela played a key role in the church's leadership as well as leading the church's choir and music program. CBS definitely has had a great deal of "shared history" with the Rosser family.

Angela Rosser founded the Circle City Chorale in January 2010, and currently serves as the choir's conductor and artistic director.

Born in Terra Haute, Indiana, Angela has lived all over the country with her family while her father worked for the U.S. Department of Justice as a federal prison warden. She started her music studies at an early age and continued to pursue piano, choral and musical theatre experience throughout high school and college.

Angela earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Music (Performance) from Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia, where she also served as the college Glee Club's Student Director.

For more than twenty years, Angela worked for Pacific Bell/AT&T and rose to the position of Regional Sales Director. Leaving AT&T in 2009, after teaching piano and voice part-time for nearly 20 years, Angela started Melody Manor Music and currently teaches voice and piano full time.

Angela and her husband Rufus have two grown daughters and have been Corona residents since 1989. She served as Director of Music at the Corona United Methodist for nearly 21 years, overseeing the churches vocal and instrumental music programs. She is a member of the several professional music associations and her community activities have included serving on the Board of Directors for Christian Arts and Theatre (CAT Corona).

Congratulations to Angela Rosser on being named our Shomer Tzedek honoree. (Guardian of Righteousness) and thank you for all that you have done to promote the arts in Corona.

In addition to Angela, other honorees that day will include our Legacy Awardee Shirli Driz; our Business Partner Award (Shatuf Tzedek Award) will be presented TO Thomas Miller Mortuary.

Sponsorships are available and are tremendous end of the year tax donations!!

Invitations to the event will be mailed in January. Please make it your priority to be there on March 10, 2019 to support this effort and make this the best Legacy Luncheon ever.

Rosh Hashanah is a personal reset button. Together we acknowledge the end of a year and we refresh our commitment to never stop engaging in the battle. If we do Rosh Hashanah right, our new year begins with a blank scoreboard and renewed optimism for our success. A true Rosh Hashanah has the power to erase our past and grant us a new year free from our baggage. This is the brilliance of Rosh Hashanah and why it resonates so deeply within us. Everyone wants to shed their baggage and star in their own redemption story.

Unlike many popular video games, the in-game purchases sold by Fortnite offer no competitive advantage. It is a truly free game, and Epic Games chose not to reward players who spend money with any in-game advantage. This counter-intuitive concept has resulted in hundreds of millions of dollars of monthly in-game sales. More significantly, Fortnite Battle Royale ensures a level playing field for all comers. No matter how many matches a player wins or loses, every player begins the next game on an equal footing. The opportunity to try again and leave the past in the past is irresistible. It is the power of Rosh Hashanah.

Fortnite is an infinite stream of fresh starts. There is no baggage or advantage that carries over from one game to the next. Every game is a new beginning. Every game is another Rosh Hashanah.
