Cantor's Corner by Cantor Bruce Shapiro HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Can you believe another year has gone by? I really enjoy this time of year as I begin to reflect on my past activities, interactions, actions, reactions, and inactions of the past year. It is literally a month of personal "accounting". I ask for the "Cheshbon" ((חשבון "check please" to see where I could have improved and where I did well.

Last month, I sent out a short audio clip for the words Ani Li V'Dodi Li. Are you enjoying this short clip? If you take the first letter of each word, it spells out the month of Elul (אלול). The meaning of this phrase is, "I am my beloved and my beloved is mine."

The month of Elul which began at the end of August is our "prep" time as we head towards the High Holidays at the end of September (see schedule in newsletter). The 40 days between the beginning of Elul until Yom Kippur represent the time when we are able to say "I'm sorry" or apologize for actions which may not have been for good. These include but are not limited to starting with:

Yourself. Forgive yourself for any shortcomings or mistakes you may have made in the past year;

Others. Forgive and ask for forgiveness from others including friends, family, acquaintances, co-workers, others;

G-d. Forgive yourself for not living up to your expectations of your own spirituality or of our faith. If you promised to do something this past year, but did not, perhaps you will recommit to it this coming year....or not!

During the High Holidays, we will be hearing from some of our congregants about spiritual practices and what some have done this past year to stay close to Judaism and "keep the faith"! If you would like to share, I would suggest writing not more than 500 words on the subject. Let me know if you would like to read it yourself to the congregation or have me read it for you anonymously if you are willing to share. There is no right or wrong way to do this.

We are hoping for a June 2024 Adult B'Nai Mitzvah right here at CBS. Remember TEAM...Together We Achieve More! Lastly, "alone we can do so little, together we can do so much!"

I am looking forward to seeing you all in person or on Zoom soon! Make a visit on any Friday evening for Shabbat or once per month usually on the 3rd Shabbat morning of the month (Sept. 17 at 9 AM) for Torah Study (for 45 minutes) with morning services following. Please continue to stay healthy. I hope you have enjoyed your summer!

CNN Poll: Anti-Semitism in Europe

Here's a story from CNN about 4 years ago explaining what people believe about the Holocaust and the Jewish people.

Anti-Semitic stereotypes are alive and well in Europe, while the memory of the Holocaust is starting to fade, a sweeping new survey by CNN reveals. More than a quarter of Europeans polled believe Jews have too much influence in business and finance. Nearly one in four said, "Jews have too much influence in conflict and wars across the world."

One in five said they have too much influence in the media and the same number believe they have too much influence in politics.

Meanwhile, a third of Europeans in the poll said they knew just a little or nothing at all about the Holocaust, the mass murder of some six million Jews in lands controlled by Adolf Hitler's Nazi regime in the 1930s and 1940s.

This poll interviewed more than 7,000 people across Europe, with more than 1,000 respondents each in Austria, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Poland, and Sweden.

The poll was commissioned and completed before the killing of 11 people at a synagogue in Pittsburgh -- the deadliest attack on a Jewish community in the United States.

About one European in 20 in the countries that CNN surveyed has never heard of the Holocaust, even though it's less than 75 years since the end of World War II, and there are still thousands of Holocaust survivors alive today.

Lack of Holocaust knowledge is particularly striking among young people in France: One out of five people there between the ages of 18 and 34 said they'd never heard of it.

A third of Europeans said that Jews use the Holocaust to advance their own positions or goals.

In Austria -- the country where Hitler was born -- 12% of young people said they had never heard of the Holocaust. Austria also had the highest number of people in the survey saying they knew "just a little" about the Holocaust. Four out of 10 Austrian adults said that.

Across Europe, half of the respondents said they know "a fair amount" about the Holocaust, while only one out of five people said they know "a great deal."

This survey found that 10% of American adults were not sure they'd ever heard of the Holocaust, rising to one in five millennials. Half of all millennials could not name a single concentration camp, and 45% of all American adults failed to do so.

But Europeans do believe it is important to keep the memory of the Holocaust alive. Two-thirds of Europeans said that commemorating the Holocaust helps ensure that such atrocities will never happen again. That figure rises to 80% in Poland, where the Nazis established Auschwitz, the deadliest concentration camp of all.

Half of Europeans said commemorating the Holocaust helps fight anti-Semitism today.

But at the same time, a third of Europeans said that Jews use the Holocaust to advance their own positions or goals. The same number disagreed and nearly a third of respondents expressed no opinion.

Attitudes sharpened when it comes to the relationship between the Holocaust, Israel, Jews, and anti-Semitism.

A slight but solid majority of Europeans -- 54% -- said Israel has the right to exist as a Jewish state, with the figure rising to two-thirds in Poland.

A third of survey respondents believe that criticism of Israel tends to be motivated by anti-Semitism, while only one in five said it does not.

Nearly one in five said anti-Semitism in their countries was a response to the everyday behavior of Jewish people.

However, a third of people CNN surveyed said that Israel uses the Holocaust to justify its actions, with half the respondents in Poland agreeing. Only one in five disagreed.

A third of Europeans said supporters of Israel use accusations of anti-Semitism to shut down criticism of Israel, while only one in 10 said that was not true.

A third of Europeans said commemorating the Holocaust distracts from other atrocities today, with higher than average numbers of Germans, Austrians, Poles, and Hungarians stating that. And while many people said anti-Semitism is a growing problem in their countries -- to the extent that 40% said Jews were at risk of racist violence in their countries and half said their governments should do more to fight anti-Semitism -- substantial minorities blamed Israel or Jews themselves for anti-Semitism.

More than a quarter of respondents (28%) said most anti-Semitism in their countries was a response to the actions of the state of Israel.

And nearly one in five (18%) said anti-Semitism in their countries was a response to the everyday behavior of Jewish people.

Few people said they personally have an unfavorable attitude toward Jews. Across the seven countries in the survey, one in 10 people said they did -- although the figure rises to 15% in Poland and 19% -- about one in five -- in Hungary.

In every country polled except Hungary, significantly more people said they had a favorable opinion of Jews than an unfavorable one. (In Hungary, favorable topped unfavorable 21% to 19%, with the rest saying they had neither a favorable nor unfavorable view.)

The poll also put a spotlight on European attitudes toward other minorities. While 10% of Europeans admitted they had unfavorable views of Jews, 16% said they had negative views of LGBT+ people, 36% said they had unfavorable views of immigrants, 37% said that about Muslims, and 39% said it of Romani people.

But while the number of Europeans openly admitting negative attitudes towards Jews was relatively low, CNN questions whether traditional anti-Semitic stereotypes still resonate across the continent and found clear evidence that they do.

EDUCATION Report

Marci Rouman
Education Director

We began the 2022/2023 school year during the month of August. Welcome back, teachers and students!

We kicked off the school year with a fun fundraiser. It was a Lula Roe clothing fundraiser on August 10. Thank you to all who came and participated in the event: Tanya Spiegel, Joan Zak, Joan Jacobs, Stephanie Sachs, Paula Fogel, Renee Miller, Jessi Rouman, and Marci Rouman. We all had fun and raised funds for the school at the same time. I hope you enjoy the pictures of the event in this newsletter.

When you receive this newsletter, school will have been underway for two weeks. The Cantor is working with our students on Sunday, August 28. Look for those photos in this newsletter.

RITUAL Report

Jackie Williams, Ritual Chairperson

Thank you to the following wonderful congregants who led services during the month of July: Joan Zak, Bob Stone, Dennis Itzkowitz and RJ Spiegel, and Jessi Rouman. In August our service leaders were Joan Zak and RJ with his mother, Rebecca and his Aunt Tanya. In September our service leaders will be Jessi Rouman on September 9 and RJ Spiegel on September 23.

On September 2 will be our annual Shabbat Under the Stars to be held in our backyard (953 Armata, Corona, CA 92881). Bruce and I are looking forward to hosting this service. It will begin at 6:30 with the oneg after the service. Please bring a chair and or a blanket to sit on.

High Holidays will be here before you know it. Dave Severson, Joan Zak, and Corina Reiche will be calling congregants to ask if they can volunteer to read English passages or read Torah portions. We love to see congregants on the bima during the holidays.

you do so. We will make a recording and send it to you and we are also available for phone consultations.

Each service will have several English readings. Everyone will be contacted to ask if they want to lead an English reading. When you come to the service, Corina will hand you a bookmark that has the page number of the prayer we would like you to read. Please come up front and sit near the bima in advance of your reading.

If you have a favorite prayer, we'll try to have you read it. Please let us know which prayer is special to you when you're called so that it's not given to another volunteer to read.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Jackie Williams at 714-296-4079 or sirdots@yahoo.com.

In Poland and Hungary, about four out of 10 people said Jews have too much influence in business and finance around the world.

Roughly one out of three people there said Jews were too influential in political affairs around the world, and more than a quarter of Poles and Hungarians said they had too much influence on the media.

A third of Austrians said Jews have too much influence in finance, while a quarter of French and German respondents said so.

About one in five people in all three countries said Jews had too much influence in media, and a quarter said they had too much influence on wars and conflicts.

The belief in Jewish power runs in parallel with enormous overestimates of the number of Jews in the world. About two-thirds of the respondents in the survey guessed too high when asked what percentage of the world is Jewish, and similar numbers got the answer wrong for their own countries. A quarter of Hungarians estimated that the world is more than 20% Jewish, and a fifth of British and Polish respondents said so.

They were off by a factor of 100. About 0.2% of the world's population is Jewish, according to the Pew Research Center's Global Religious Landscape study.

Four out of ten respondents in the survey thought their own countries were between 3% and 10% Jewish. In fact, Israel is the only country in the world where more than 2% of the population is Jewish.

The overestimates came even as majorities or near-majorities in every country CNN polled said they were not aware of ever having met a Jewish person. Two-thirds of Germans, Austrians, and Poles said they didn't think they had ever socialized with a Jew, while about half of people in Britain, France, Hungary, and Sweden said the same.

The numbers of people interviewed were 7,092 adults online in seven countries between September 7 and September 20, 2018 (Great Britain, 1010; France, 1006; Germany, 1012; Poland, 1020; Hungary, 1019; Sweden 1018; Austria, 1007). Data was weighted to be representative of each country based on age, gender, and region.

Special Thank You to CBS MEMBERS FOR Putting the MITZVAH into my Project!

I want to thank all of the CBS families for supporting my Bar Mitzvah Community Project—Honoring the 13 Fallen.

I was happy to see so many CBS friends attending the memorial service, and I liked your nice comments. I am still getting information from the Blue Star Moms about who donated, and I will be sending thank you notes shortly.

I was told over 325 attended the event. I was pleased that the community came to support my project.

The framed American Flags I am giving to each of the families are made of heavy metal (from an Army Veteran who owns his own company, and employees only Veterans). The wood framing was made by Vietnam Veteran Earl Ochs. I am so touched and grateful to Mark and Paula Fogel who are handling the mailing of each flag to those families members unable to attend the event.

I want to thank Cantor Shapiro for coming home early from his vacation, and he helped guide me on some parts to be included in the service.

Thank you to all for helping me in reminding people we will NEVER FORGET!

I know Kareem's parents were very touched by hearing so many people saying their son's name. Remember, SAYING THEIR NAMES is a beautiful way to Remember and Honor the 13 Fallen!

CBS BOOK Club

Whether dueling with new forensics or the local old boys' network, irreverent defense attorney Andy Carpenter always leaves them awed with his biting wit and winning fourth-quarter game plan. But Andy prefers the company of his best friend, Tara, to the people he encounters in the courtroom. Tara, a golden retriever, is clearly smarter than half the lawyers who clog the courts of Passaic County. However, just as it seems Andy has everything figured out, his dad, New Jersey's legendary ex-D.A., drops dead in front of him at a game in Yankee Stadium. The shocks pile on as he discovers his dad left him with two unexpected legacies: a fortune of $22 million that Andy never knew existed . . . and a murder case with enough racial tinder to burn down City Hall. Struggling to serve justice and bring honor to his father, Andy must dig up some explosive political skeletons - and an astonishing family secret that can close his case (and his mouth) for good.

Beyond the SYNAGOGUE

BREAKING BREAD, PRIOR TO SERVICES

Several synagogue members got together at Goodfella's restaurant before attending Erev Shabbat Services on July 29th. The food and conversation was enjoyed by all. We would welcome you all to join, we visit different eateries, and if you are interested in being on the text messaging, connect with Renee Miller (909) 228- 5945.

PHOTOS WANTED

We are always seeking photos of our members, and their relatives, for inclusion in this section. Submissions for the Beyond the Synagogue are welcomed. Please submit to BJRouman@SBCglobal.net and Bobby@MyChamber.org prior to the 15th of each month. Space limitations may prevent your submission to be included.

Beyond the SYNAGOGUE

SUPPORTING EDUCATION BY SHOPPING
well that is their story,
and they are sticking to it!

Several women from the synagogue attended the Lu La Roe fundraiser at the home of Lis Ljung. As you can see from the pictures, the selection was awesome. We got in a lot of good conversation in between purchases and everyone bought several articles of clothing. The amount of her profit that Lis will donate will be matched by the company and benefit our Religious School.

NINE DAYS—3,800 MILES in a Honda Fit!

Traveling from Pennsylvania to California, Cantor Bruce, Marcy and daughter Molly made the 9-day trip, traveling over 3,800 miles...in Molly's Honda Fit, appropriately named, as they barely 'fit' themselves (not to mention any luggage). They did this, and are still talking to each other!!!

The photos are as beautiful as their souls and personalities. Breathtaking scenery of the Grand Canyon are captured, and we are experiencing these wonderful sights through these pictures.

THE JOY OF GRANDCHILDREN

Recently, Mark and Gail Koren traveled to the East Coast to visit with their son Joshua and his seven children. The photos clearly depict the joy and love that a grandparent brings to their family. Our best wishes to the Koren Family for many more joyous times together.

Matt is the son of CBS Members (and Cantor) Bruce and Marcy Shapiro and the brother of CBS Member Molly Shapiro.

CBS wishes only health and happiness for all the Shapiros!
